ABC of electronics

Situation:

We are confronted with electrotechnical devices in all areas of our working world.

The basic relationships of electrical engineering are missing and understanding is becoming more and more difficult. Many employees feel deficits here, but shy away from attending extensive and long-lasting technical courses.

Objective:

The participants learn the basics of electronics from the resistor to the microprocessor. Based on the learned component knowledge, a circuit concept for a heating control for a car is created based on a requirement specification. Small measurement exercises in group work deepen the theoretical knowledge.

Content:

- Electronic components
- Fundamentals of electrical engineering
- Construction of integrated circuits (ICs)
- Introduction to digital technology
- Structure and mode of operation of microprocessors
- Examples from automotive and household technology
- Practical exercises

Target Audience: interested employees without electrotechnical knowledge

Preconditions: None

Duration: 3 Days

Fee: 1150,- € + MwSt + 75,-€ /day for daily catering

Trainer: Dipl.-Ing Klemens Paul

Location: Hotel am See Neutraubling

Termine: 20. – 22. Nov 2024
19. – 21. Februar 2025

With this registration we reserve a place in the seminar for you.

Please also use the ordering system used in your company, e.g. CEOS, to register.

If you are prevented from attending at short notice, you can nominate a substitute participant.

Up to the 10th working day before the start of the seminar, a cancellation fee of 50% of the seminar price will be charged; Cancellations (non-appearance) after this time will be charged as participation.

If, contrary to expectations, a seminar is postponed for reasons for which we are responsible, we reserve the right to name alternative dates.
